Battling Blood in the Streets: How Can Neuroscience Promote Public Health and Support Public Policy to Prevent Community Violence?

September 7, 2016 4:00 PM

[Wasserstein Hall, Room 1010, Harvard Law School
1585 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, MA](#)

Far too many people across the country are left dead, injured, or traumatized by community violence. Communities can be safer when neuroscience, public health strategies, and collective advocacy are aligned in practice and policy. What are the best next steps to fostering a broad science-informed advocacy movement to effectively address community violence?

Panelists:

- Michelle Bosquet Enlow, PhD, Assistant Professor of Psychology, Harvard Medical School; Associate in Psychology, Boston Children's Hospital; Affiliated Faculty, Harvard University Center on the Developing Child
- Shannon Cosgrove, MPH, Director of Health Policy, Cure Violence
- Fatimah Loren Muhammad, Director, Trauma Advocacy Initiative, Equal Justice USA
- Moderator: Charles Homer, MD, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Human Services Policy, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation, U. S. Department of Health and Human Services

Part of the Project on Law and Applied Neuroscience, a collaboration between the Center for Law, Brain & Behavior at Massachusetts General Hospital and the Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics at Harvard Law School.

2016 Petrie-Flom Center Annual Open House

September 7, 2016 5:30 PM

[HLS Pub, Wasserstein Hall, 1st Floor, Harvard Law School
1585 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, MA](#)

At this event, faculty, colleagues, and students with shared interests in health law policy, biotechnology, and bioethics will learn about what the Petrie-Flom Center does and how people can get involved. And of course, we will eat, drink, and be merry!

Sponsored by the Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics at Harvard Law School and the Center for Bioethics at Harvard Medical School, with support from the Oswald DeN. Cammann Fund.

CALL FOR HARVARD STUDENT AND POSTDOC SUBMISSIONS!
Journal of Law and the Biosciences

Submissions Due: No later than September 9, 2016
Full call online!

The Journal of Law and the Biosciences is an online, open-access, peer-reviewed journal. JLB includes a Notes & Developments section, comprised of brief summaries and commentary on recent legislation, regulation, and case law written by graduate students and postdoctoral fellows. We are currently seeking Harvard graduate students and postdoctoral fellows from any school to contribute papers to be published in JLB's Notes & Developments section in early 2017. We will consider papers generated specifically for JLB, as well as papers that have been (or will be) initially written as student notes or course papers and edited for this particular purpose. JLB Notes & Developments are limited to 5000 words, including footnotes and references, and should be on a topic of relevance to law and the biosciences, in particular a topic of relatively recent concern, controversy, or change. They should focus on describing the issue at hand, explaining why it is relevant to scholars, and providing analysis and questions for further consideration.

Interested students and fellows should submit either their paper proposal (2 page max) OR their completed paper (e.g. existing note, course paper) and CV for consideration no later than September 9, 2016 (earlier is welcome). Up to four papers will be selected for publication in the Notes & Developments section of JLB. Applicants will be notified by the end of September. First drafts of papers selected for JLB publication will be due by the end of October; contributors will receive comments on these drafts, and will also be responsible for providing comments to the other selected contributors. Revisions will be due by the end of November, and final submissions to JLB will be due by the end of December 2016.

Health Law Policy & Bioethics Workshops

The 2016-2017 Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics Workshops provide a forum for discussion of new scholarship in these fields from the world's leading experts. Harvard graduate students may register to take the workshop for course credit, but it is also open to the public.

This year, the workshop is led by Professor I. Glenn Cohen, and meets on selected Monday evenings from 5-7 PM on the Harvard Law School campus. The invited presenter generally speaks for about 30 minutes, after which the floor is opened for Q&A. It is recommended to read the papers in advance. Papers will usually be posted on the website one week before they are scheduled for presentation, but occasionally are available by request only.

Questions about the workshop should be directed to Jennifer Minnich (jminnich@law.harvard.edu).

This year's workshops include:
