Reflections in Honor of the Life & Influence of Professor Alan Wertheimer

November 4, 2015 1:00 - 5:30 PM
Harvard Law School

Please join us for an afternoon of reflection on the life, work, and influence of Professor Alan Wertheimer (1942-2015). Professor W was a leading philosopher of law and bioethics, making critical contributions to clinical research ethics; theories of coercion, undue influence, and exploitation; consent in a variety of contexts, and much more. This tribute event will feature leading scholars discussing and engaging with Professor Wertheimer's many contributions, and exploring how he influenced their own work.

At the time of his death in 2015, Alan Wertheimer was Senior Research Scholar in the Department of Bioethics at the National Institutes of Health. He was Professor of Political Science at the University of Vermont, where he taught from 1968 to 2005 and was honored as University Scholar in 1995-1996. Before retiring from UVM, he was also McCullough Professor of Political Science. He authored Coercion (Princeton University Press, 1987), Exploitation (Princeton University Press, 1996), Consent to Sexual Relations (Cambridge University Press, 2003) and Rethinking the Ethics of Clinical Research: Widening (Oxford University Press, 2011). He was twice a Visiting Professor at the Harvard School of Government, and held fellowships at the Institute of Advanced Study, (1984-85) and the Program in Ethics and the Professions, Harvard University (1989-90).

This event is free and open to the public but seating is limited and registration is required. Register now online!

APPLICATIONS DUE AUGUST 7:
2015-2016 Petrie-Flom Center Student Fellowship

The Petrie-Flom Center for Health Law Policy, Biotechnology, and Bioethics is an interdisciplinary research program at Harvard Law School dedicated to the scholarly research of important issues at the intersection of law and health policy, including issues of health care financing and regulation, biotechnology and intellectual property, biomedical research, and bioethics.

The Petrie-Flom Center Student Fellowship is a competitive program designed to support Harvard graduate students interested in pursuing independent scholarly projects related to health law policy, biotechnology, and bioethics. With mentorship from Petrie-Flom Center affiliates, student fellows are expected to produce publishable scholarship by the end of the academic year, at which point they are awarded a modest stipend. Student fellows blog regularly at the Petrie-Flom Center blog, where their work receives substantial public exposure; participate in and organize Center events; and enroll in the Health Law Policy and Bioethics Workshop, which provides the opportunity to interact with leading scholars in the field.
Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis until 9AM, Friday, August 7, 2015. No of awards will be made by August 21, 2015. For more information, please visit our y
